1. Choosing a Template: Select a template that aligns with your desired style and design goals. Consider the size, shape, and overall aesthetic of the template.

3. Customization: This is where you personalize the template. You can add images, text, patterns, and colors to create a unique design. Consider using high-resolution images for the best print quality.
4. Testing and Refinement: Before printing, test your design on a smaller scale to ensure the colors, text, and images are displayed correctly. Make adjustments as needed.
5. Printing and Production: Once the design is finalized, you can either print it yourself using a suitable printer or send it to a professional printing service for high-quality results. For teaware, consider using sublimation printing or ceramic transfer printing for durable and high-quality results.

Example: Let's say you want to create a teacup with a floral design. You would find a suitable teacup template Tomig, import it into your chosen software, add your chosen floral images or patterns, adjust the colors, and then send it to a printing service specializing in ceramic printing.
